SEASON'S GREETINGS FROM

Peter Adams to Head C-FER

Peter Adams, Dean of Engineering at The University of Alberta since 1976, has been named President of the Centre for Frontier Engineering Research (C-FER). An incorporated, non-profit company to be established on campus with major funding from the Government of Alberta and the Devonian Group, C-FER will focus on research related to materials, design, and construction of facilities for Arctic and offshore development.

According to Dr. Adams, the exploitation of Canada's Arctic and offshore resources requires a variety of structures, and their development provides unique opportunities for Canadian organizations to participate in the supply, engineering, and construction phases. There is, he submits, "a perceived lack of Canadian expertise in these areas that, if allowed to continue, could result in many of the benefits from energy-related developments leaving the country."

The establishment of C-FER provides a focal point for the re-industry. Its approach to research will take what Dr. Adams terms a "vertical path through the construction process," with all aspects of industry being explored. Initial ventures will be concentrated on the steel industry.

Networking will be a key to the Centre's success. With this in mind, C-FER will operate on several levels: (1) identifying resources available from Canadian organizations; (2) identifying the deficiencies in Cana-search and development necesindustrial participation in such tention on research related to offshore structures, generally nadian engineering and

sary to promote and enhance Ca-projects. C-FER will focus its at-those required for the oil and gas

the Centre's success. With this in mind, C-FER will operate on several levels: (1) identifying resources available from Canadian organizations; (2) identifying the deficiencies in Canadian capabilities and suggesting remedial action; (3) interacting with other agencies performing similar tasks; and (4) operating as a resource centre and clearinghouse for technical problems. In addition, C-FER will assist in the development of suitable regulatory statements and will encourage and promote educational upgrading in its areas of Funding for C-FER is to come from several sources, with major donations from the Government of Alberta ($1.88 million over five years) and the Devonian Group of Charitable Foundations ($2.5 million over five years). In addition, a combined donation of $.6 million has been committed by Algoma Steel Corporation, Ltd.; Steel Company of Canada, Ltd.; AMCA International Ltd.; Nova, An Alberta Corporation; CanOcean Resources Ltd.: Hanson Materials Engineering (Western) Ltd.; and Bow Valley Industries Ltd.

The University has committed major "in kind" support including office space for C-FER, use of laboratories and equipment, and the provision of up to three visiting university staff members whose salaries while seconded to the Centre will be subsidized by the University.

According to A.E. (Ernie) Pallister, Chairman of the CFER Board and President of Pallister Resource Management
Ltd., several factors were involved in the placement of CFER in Edmonton. Edmonton is home to a number of engineering firms, steel fabricators and contractors. Many of the potential owners of Arctic and offshore projects are located within easy access and Edmonton has traditionally been a centre for projects in the north.

A major factor in the location of C-FER in Edmonton is The University of Alberta which, says Dr. Pallister, "is well known for the quality of its Engineering Faculty, the excellence of its facilities, and for the close links that exist between the Faculty and the industrial community."

Dr. Adams, a native of Halifax, is a graduate of the Nova Scotia Technical College (BEng 1958; MEng 1961) and Lehigh University (PhD 1966), A civil engineer specializing in the design and construction of steel structures, he joined the staff of The University of Alberta in 1960. Long an advocate of collaboration between the University and Alberta industry, Dr. Adams will bring a wealth of experience as both researcher and administrator to his new position with C-FER. He looks forward to the challenges he will face as President of the Centre. "Contacts with industry and with government will be critical to C-FER's success," he states. "I am looking forward to being back in the technical area again, working with the private sector, yet able to maintain my ties with the

Dr. Adams anticipates that C-FER will begin operation in January and that his transition from the Dean's Office to the Centre will be phased in during the following months. □

At a Culinary Crossroads? Try the SUBWAY

Glorification of the noodle is imminent. On 9 January, the Saucy Noodle, one of three new eateries concocted by Housing and Food Services on the second floor of SUB, will open. The Noodle, hard by Dinwoodie Lounge, will have as its mainstay pasta and sauces. Various other Italian dishes will also be available. If you don't feel like Italian, you can turn to Jumbo's, a fast food outlet, or to Greenfields, a deli sandwich and salad spot. The three restaurants make up The SUBWAY, the tokens for which will be competitive with all other food outlets on campus.

Hand in hand with the food service is the up tempo decor. The off-white and green coloration will be complemented by a number of planters and colorful banners. The area will also be carpeted. "One of our objectives is to make a nice seating area, one which will relieve the crowded conditions in places such as the CAB cafeteria," says Paul Combee, Marketing Manager, Housing and Food Services. Seating for about 350 people will be installed.

Renovations by Apacon Contracting (1981) Ltd. began 5 December and proceeded on the understanding that, in the future, should the public want to over-throw pasta for, say, Mexican food, the appropriate changes could be made with a minimum of fuss

Effective 9 January, SUB-WAY hours are as follows: Jumbo's, 7:15 a.m. to 3:30 p.m.; Greenfields, 10:30 a.m. to 2 p.m.; the Saucy Noodle, 10:45 a.m. to 2 p.m.□

The Third Annual Folio List

1983

- International development award: out of many projects all over the world, Home Economics' Family Development Centre in the slums of Fortaleza, Brazil.
- Most widely travelled administrator: Helen (Indiana Jones)
 Collinson.
- The success story: Universiade
- Most frequently misspelled word: "liaison," as on zippy memos circulated by Housing and Food Services' "Chief Liason Officer—WUG."
- Best dressed male administrator: No award pending a reevaluation of the use of fur coats.
- Imperial construction award: Office of the Registrar.
- Longest awaited opening: the "plus 15" link between Agriculture/Forestry and GSB.
- Most intrepid souvenir collectors: the Romanian delegation to the World University Games.
- Most fey telephone call to Community Relations: on 4 May from the person wondering if the University would be interested in buying her executive condominium.
- Utterly reasonable and, of course, totally well informed commentator on University affairs: William Thorsell.
- This year's anniversary: Faculté Saint-Jean's 75th.
- Building that made the wrecking crew sit up and smile: Campus Security.
- The now you don't see it, now you do award: the workers who, seemingly overnight, installed the Universiade '83 Flame Tower on the corner of 89 Avenue and 114 Street. (An immediate suggestion was that the University be renamed The University of Albirda.)
- Most effective photograph related to education: Kenneth Cunningham and his sociology class in Supplement to Alberta Report, page 2, 26 September.
- Most overworked committee: PACSH.
- Many thanks to: Universiade

- '83 Corporation for accreditation granted Community Relations staff; Gordon Fearn and Eileen Dunham for their efforts as United Way Campaign Chairmen for the University.
- The year's most prodigious feat, as described by ITV playby-play man Bruce Buchanan during a recent Oilers-Islanders match: "...Tomas Jonsson...from Sweden...shoots it in."
- Line to live by (if you are Clare Drake and you have a brief rôle in the movie "Running Brave": "Coach, can you sign this, please."

Hopes for 1984

- Anne Lambert gets new clothes.
- Songs at the bottom of the charts: "Please release me, let me go" and "Mac the Knife."
- The Business Building is completed on schedule—and that there are sufficient faculty to fill it
- The early arrival of spring.
- Engineering III.
- The Golden Bears football squad—there's nothing so hard to bear as a great potential. □

Cover: Music of the season pervaded Convocation Hall 16 December. The occasion was the annual Festival of Nine Lessons and Carols. Leading the University community in the celebration of Advent and the Christmas season was the U of A Mixed Chorus.

Get 'em while they're hot! Joyce Kerr (right) strives to keep up with the demand for her fresh-out-of-the-oven cinnamon buns.

Legacy Lives on Despite Retirement

Joyce Kerr took many things with her when she retired on 21 December, including memories of staff and students which span some 35 years. Fortunately, she did not take that which has made her famous—the recipe for her melt-in-your-mouth cinnamon buns.

Many have braved the elements in the early morning to make their way to the CAB cafeteria for their bun fix, which has become part of the daily routine. Mrs. Kerr's cinnamon buns are considered standard procedure in anyone's informal orientation to the University. So popular are these tasty morsels that the recipe was chosen as Canada's entry in the cookbook published for the 1983 World University Games.

The story goes back many years to the old Tuck Shop which served a popular cinnamon bun. The recipe, however, had never been standardized and consequently the buns were not always consistent. When the University acquired the Shop in 1968, Mrs. Kerr, who was running a special test kitchen in SUB, was named manager. The rest is history. Her broad experience in recipe testing and developing led her to perfect the cinnamon bun recipe and when she moved to the new CAB cafeteria the recipe stuck with her.

Perfecting recipes is nothing new to Mrs. Kerr. When she worked in the Education Building (now Corbett Hall) cafeteria she developed a popular cinnamon roll which is still being served in various lunchrooms. She emphasizes that the CAB bun is not a roll but a bun because it is made with a Scandinavian dough.

The wealth of Mrs. Kerr's knowledge has leavened a number of University cafeterias. Following work in the Education Building, she was involved in the opening of the Lister Hall operation in the mid-1960s and then moved to SUB when it opened in 1967. A year later, she assumed responsibility for the Tuck Shop and when the new CAB cafeteria began operation in 1971, she accepted the position of manager and the cinnamon buns have been a unique feature ever since.

Mrs. Kerr will not retire her testing and developing skills; in fact, she may write a cook book. She also plans to do some travelling and is eyeing Greece, Australia and New Zealand. Perhaps she will become the official cinnamon bun ambassador to the world.

Spirit of Christmas Thrives in Building Services

It will be tarkey with all the trimmings for 16 Edmonton families thanks to the Christmas elves in Building Services. For the sixth consecutive year, the 400 University staff have dug deep into their pockets to find the wherewithal to fill Christmas hampers for some of Edmonton's less fortunate citizens.

According to Werner Larsen, Building Services Manager. more than $1,200 has been collected from 15 maintenance areas on campus. As in the past, Petrolia Safeway has agreed to fill the hampers with everything from soup to nuts. On 22 December, two members from each of the Building Services areas will collect the hampers and distribute them to the families selected by the Edmonton Christmas Bureau. And, more often than not, says Mr. Larsen, the hampers are "padded" by the donors with such extras as toys, books, and home-baking

Correction

Last week's Folio noted that all Libraries would be closed 1 January (Monday) and 2 January (Tuesday). The dates should have read 1 January (Sunday) and 2 January (Monday).

Bain Bruce (Educational Psychology) and Yu, Agnes (Edmonton Public Schools): "Language, social class, culture: pragmatic implications for first and second language acquisition in Hong Kong and Alberta. New Horizons, No. 24, (1983): pp. 63-82.

The people of Building Services have a well-deserved reputation for warm-heartedness, says Mr. Larsen. Only months ago they collected $721 for the Terry Fox Run. With his eye already on Christmas 1984, he and his staff would "dearly like to see the whole University get involved in the Christmas hamper project."

Notices

The Information Edge

The Provincial Archives of Alberta maintains a list of records agents or researchers to whom archival repositories and libraries may refer lengthy research projects which they are unable to undertake for out-oftown clients. The list has been updated several times and is under current revision. Any graduate student or staff member who is interested in, and available to undertake, occasional research on Alberta documents in Alberta research centres may obtain an information sheet from the University Archivist, (432-5146), or the Provincial Archivist (427-1750).

Booster Service Available

Those who have University of Alberta parking permits are reminded that a battery boosting service does exist on campus. It is available from 3 to 6 p.m. Monday through Friday, with the exception of holidays and whenever the termperature drops to -23 degrees Celsius or colder.

Should you require the service, call Physical Plant at 432-4855. They will be glad to help.

Association of Commonwealth Universities

The Office of Research Services recently obtained the sixth edition of Awards for Commonwealth University Academic Staff.

This is a compiled list of fellowships, visiting professorships, grants, etc. open to university academic staff in a Commonwealth country who wish to carry out research, make study visits, or teach for a time at a university in another Commonwealth country during the period 1984 to 1986.

For more information or order forms to obtain this handbook, check with Wendy Corbett, Office of Research Services, 432-5360.

A Track for All Seasons

The Varsity Stadium track has been flooded to provide a surface for recreational skating. In the words of Geoff Elliott, Director, Division of Support Services, Faculty of Physical Education and Recreation, "Please feel free to use the area for skating purposes at any time."

Nick Muntjewerff to Retire

Nick Muntjewerff, Senior Biology Technologist, Department of Genetics, will retire 31 December 1983. His association and loyal service to The University of Alberta for more than thirty-two years will be honored at an informal drop-in reception in G217 Conference Room, Genetics Wing, Biological Sciences Centre, 13 January at 4 p.m.

Staff, friends and acquaintances of Mr. Muntjewerff's are cordially invited on this occasion to wish him well on his retirement.

For further information and R.S.V.P. your attendance, please contact Susan Mallinson, Genetics General Office, 432-3606.

Review of the Code of Student Behaviour

There will be a meeting of the Campus Law Review Committee 12 January, 11 a.m., in 3-15 University Hall. A presentation will be made by J.C. Robb, Faculty of Law, in support of an "in-house" policy for the Code of Student Behaviour and by T. Christian, Faculty of Law, who will speak to a less protective philosophy for the Code of Student Behaviour.

Anyone wishing to make a personal or written submission to the Campus Law Review Committee should give notice of such intent to Mrs. P.M. Plaskitt, 2-5 University Hall. 432-4715.
